

I took the Online Hungarian language class the University of Debrecen: Modern Hungary and Hungarian literature. Both classes were very informative and well presented. The information presented in the classes gave me the background to understand and appreciate the Hungarian culture. These classes were an excellent introduction to Hungary and gave me enough information to help me in my current Fulbright work at the University of Pecs in Hungary. I particularly was impressed and benefited on how the History and Literature lectures complemented each other. I feel well prepared for my cultural immersion in Pecs, Hungary.
