

Elizabeth Vos

DSS Scholarship Report

2017

Learning Hungarian with classmates of all ages from all over the world is truly a unique experience. I learned so much during the two weeks I spent at the Debrecen Nyári Egyetem, not only about my classmates, but of course about Hungarian language and culture as well. Every day we had multiple class sessions under the instruction of qualified and pleasant teachers.

In my intermediate-level class, we spent time learning the grammar and sentence structure of Hungarian. We covered a range of topics and I know I have a much firmer grasp on Hungarian than I did before this experience.

Not only did we learn about grammar, we also spent time practicing our conversational skills and listening to native speakers and their conversations. It was important for us to get used to the normal speed and flow of conversations in fluent Hungarian.

Overall, the Summer Course at the Debreceni Nyári Egyetem was a great experience for Hungarian learners of any level. Nothing beats spending two weeks of great instruction in Hungary itself.